

JOIN THE MID-ATLANTIC CANCER GENETICS NETWORK!

Help doctors and families learn more about why some people get cancer. Join the Mid-Atlantic Cancer Genetics Network, affiliated with the Johns Hopkins University and the National Cancer Institute. Receive the latest information about genes and cancer. Learn about future studies. Clues to hereditary cancer include: blood relatives with cancer(s), family members with the same type of cancer, cancer before age 50, or cancer(s) in more than one generation.
